Table of Organization Talking Points
July 2022

Table of Organization and Supplemental Document Overview

- The table of organization is a high-level overview of the proposed organizational structure. It represents proposed work units (lead by a supervisor) and reporting structure.
- The table of organization does not represent all programs and functions that exist or supervisor classifications.
- The supplemental program document provides additional clarification on programs and functions that fall within proposed organizational units.

Table of Organization Highlights

- The nine functional areas, included in the functional organizational chart, are the proposed divisions.
- Public Health and Human Services information technology units are retained as-is and are brought together under an information technology unit.
- Regulatory and compliance functions are highlighted in a new Compliance division inclusive of health care provider licensing and regulation, medical cannabidiol, contracts and data, administrative rules and appeals, internal audit, and alignment implementation units.
- The alignment implementation unit will coordinate alignment efforts that will be outlined in the Transition Plan which will be published in September 2022.
- Policy and field team members are joined together in the Community Access and Family Well-Being and Protection divisions to further connect policy and practice related to child protection and services, adult protection and services, and economic assistance.
- Family health, nutrition, and physical activity programs are joined with economic assistance work in a single Community Access table of organization.
- Mental health, crisis and suicide prevention, disabilities, substance use disorder, and targeted case management programs in a single Disability and Behavioral Health table of organization.
